JURIS DOCTOR DEGREE

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL
WASHINGTON, D.C.

2024-25

DC's oldest law school, still ahead of its time

For more than 150 years, the George Washington University Law School has made an impact in the world by offering a D.C.-infused education that prepares students to shape solutions to the pressing challenges of our times.

“ Because it’s a large law school, there are so many different experiences among the student body and that positively informs class discussions and the available opportunities at the law school. ”

STEPHON HOWIE, 3L
HOMETOWN: CHARLOTTE, NC

Our graduates make history

GW Law has an impressive record of educating forward-thinking leaders. By 1895, our graduates had already written the patents for Bell's telephone, Mergenthaler's linotype machine, and Eastman's roll film camera.

Today, GW Law prepares students with the theoretical and practical knowledge to view the law in an increasingly global context. With an extensive curriculum, a faculty of well-respected scholars and practitioners, high-quality externship opportunities in the nation's capital, robust mentorship programs, and an emphasis on professionalism and career development, we assist students in exploring the law in depth and finding their own place within it.

At GW Law, we offer each student a team of professors, counselors, colleagues, and mentors dedicated to helping that student create a pathway to a successful career. That is the GW Law Experience.

“ Sometimes when I’m reading a legal brief for class, I’ll see a name that looks familiar and realize, ‘Wait, that’s a GW Law professor!’ ”

KACI WAGUESPACK, 1L
HOMETOWN: DESTREHAN, LOUISIANA

It's all about who we know.

DC's best legal minds

Our professors bring the legal world to our classrooms. For instance, Professor Bradley Clark led a recent conversation with his friend Justice Elena Kagan (pictured left) before an auditorium of students. Dean Dayna Bowen Matthew conducted one of several conversations with retired Justice Stephen Breyer (pictured, center left).

Our professors argue before the Supreme Court, testify on Capitol Hill, and engage in shaping the practice and evolution of the law. That experience and access benefits our students.

In addition, our D.C. location allows us to draw from the leading legal practitioners to round out our adjunct faculty. Leading practitioners from government agencies, top think tanks, and local and federal courts bring real-world experience to our classrooms as adjunct professors.

An Extensive Curriculum

GW Law offers one of the most extensive course catalogs among American law schools. You can choose from more than 275 elective courses focused in 18 program areas, some of which offer more than 60 courses.

“ The GW community feels welcoming. There's such a wealth of experiences among the students. I know law school can feel hyper-competitive, but I've never felt that energy here. ”

JOSE MIGUEL RODRIGUEZ, 3L
HOMETOWN: OAKLAND, NJ

A Community of Colleagues

At GW Law, we encourage students to examine their interests before exploring the law in depth to find their individual paths toward professional satisfaction. As 1Ls, students enter cohorts that we call the Inns of Court. Each Inn offers a sense of community, along with enrichment programs designed to enhance the law school experience and support students in determining and pursuing their individual career paths through formal and informal mentorships. Our innovative Fundamentals of Lawyering (FL) course is designed to equip 1Ls with the skills legal employers desire most, including legal research and writing, client problem-solving, creative thinking, sound judgment, and self-directed learning. Together, the Inns program and the FL course support students' professional identity formation by exposing them to the skills, traits, and values expected of lawyers.

Our students evolve into professionals through courses and hands-on experiences, such as in the Jacob Burns Community Legal Clinics, where they represent actual clients in real-life cases; the Field Placement Program, where they earn academic credit through approved externships and co-requisite courses; the Public Interest and Public Service Law Center, which supports students who plan for public service careers; and moot court competitions.

Real-World Experience, Real-World Impact

Under faculty guidance, our students have argued before Supreme Court justices in moot court competitions; won immigration cases for those seeking asylum through our legal clinics; and served in externships through the Field Placement Program, gaining substantive legal experience in institutions and agencies in Washington, D.C., and New York.

JACOB BURNS COMMUNITY LEGAL CLINICS: Our clinics allow students to represent actual clients in real-life cases under faculty supervision. Current clinics include:

- Administrative Law Issues and Appeals Clinic
- Access to Justice Clinic: Family Law
- Access to Justice Clinic: HEPA Environmental Justice
- Access to Justice Clinic: Nonprofit and Entrepreneurship
- Access to Justice Clinic: Prisoner Civil Rights

FIELD PLACEMENT PROGRAM: Students earn academic credit through approved externships at places such as U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, U.S. Department of Justice, House and Senate Judiciary Committees, World Bank, National Wildlife Federation, and White House Office of Legal Counsel. In addition, students take a course related to their externship experiences.

PUBLIC INTEREST AND PRO BONO: The Class of 2024 contributed more than 57,314 pro bono hours in projects such as the Washington Legal Clinic for the Homeless, Animal Welfare Project, and the Cancer Pro Bono Network, among others. Notably, GW Law allows students to begin pro bono work as soon as the second semester of their 1L year.

MOOT COURT COMPETITIONS: GW Law was ranked as the seventh best moot court program in the country for 2022-23 by the Blakeley Advocacy Institute. Over the past 16 years, GW Law's Van Vleck Constitutional Law Moot Court Competition has been presided over seven times by Supreme Court Justices.

Enhance Your Study

GW IN NY: Upperlevel students whose studies have been focused in the area of business and finance law can participate in GW in New York. For one semester, students work, study, and live in New York, taking courses from prominent alumni practitioners in the field of business and finance law and benefitting from externships at organizations such as the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, U.S. Court of International Trade, and the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association. Our New York alumni serve as individual mentors, as well.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS: With more than 60 student organizations, our students gain hands-on administrative and leadership experience. GW's Student Bar Association, which won the ABA's 2020 Dean Henry J. Ramsey, Jr. Diversity Award, the 2018 Membership and Activity Award, and was the ABA's 2015 National SBA of the Year, oversees the budgeting and administration for all student organizations, functioning as a small company with more than 110 members of its executive branch alone. A Front-Row Seat

GW Law in DC

GW Law is located across the street from the International Monetary Fund and World Bank; four blocks from the White House; two blocks from Big Law on K Street; three blocks from the U.S. Department of State; and a Metro ride away from the Supreme Court, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, the Environmental Protection Agency, and a host of nongovernmental and policy agencies.

That proximity, along with the established networks of our faculty, administrators, career counselors, and alumni, means that our students have unprecedented access to externships year-round, as well as countless opportunities to interact with those who create and enact policy.

For example, GW Law's International and Comparative Law Program frequently hosts the State Department's Public International Advisory Committee Meetings, which are open to the public. More than 400 events are held on campus each year, bringing high-level officials and practitioners to campus. Our students benefit from the vast number of networking opportunities that these events provide.

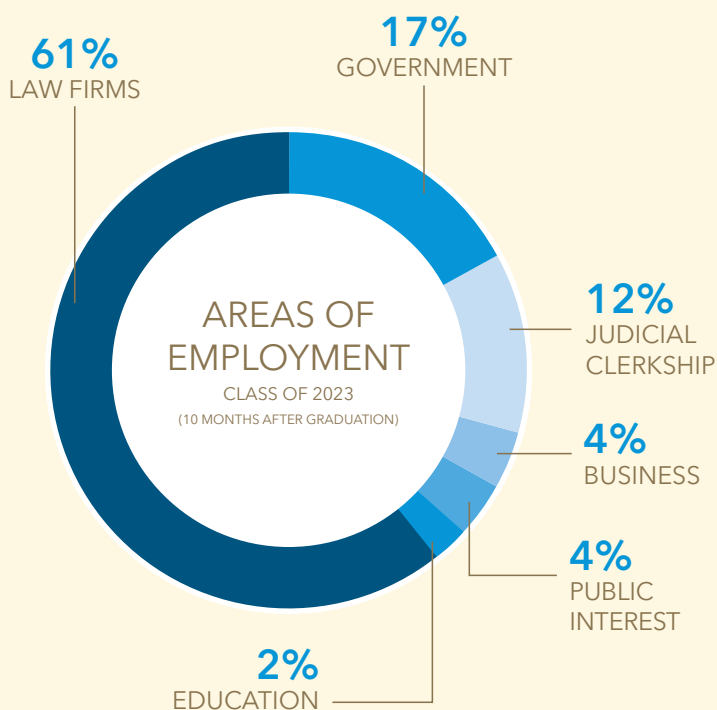

Building Your Career

Our Career Center assists students throughout their time at GW Law to get the legal experience they need to launch their careers as attorneys. There are as many career paths as there are students. The center is dedicated to helping each student develop a personalized career plan.

Our career counselors are trained, licensed attorneys with experience in multiple types of legal employment, including law firms, judicial clerkships, government agencies, nonprofit organizations, and private sector employers.

Each counselor is assigned to one of the first-year student sections collectively called the Inns of Court. Weekly Inns sessions cover networking, informational interviews, the job search process, among many other topics. The counselors follow their cohort of students throughout law school, although students are free to meet with any member of the Career Center counseling team.

Our graduates go on to every type of legal role, including holding clerkships; working at large, medium, and small law firms; serving in government positions; and working in international and domestic business ventures, among other positions. Each year, approximately 60 GW Law students secure clerkships with federal, state, and local judges immediately after graduation.

ALUMNI NETWORKING

With more than 33,000 alumni throughout the world and in every area of practice, the law school counts among its alumni several senators and executive cabinet officers, state and federal judges, and many prominent leaders in business, industry, and government. Alumni play a critical collaborative role in career center programming and resources, serving as panelists, mock interviewers, and mentors. The Alumni Career Network puts current students and recent graduates in touch with alumni who can provide career advice and opportunities.

The Career Center supports students in a variety of ways:

- Individual Career Counseling, including basic tools preparation, employment-market insight, and personal interview preparation.
- Professional Development Programming
- Skills Training
- Programming Focused on Specific Practice Areas
- Dedicated Counseling and Programming for Part-time Students
- Public Interest Job Fairs and Initiatives

Big Law on K Street, the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, the U.S. Department of Justice, and the U.S. Supreme Court are all an easy distance from GW Law.

“ I didn't understand the vast amount of networking opportunities I'd find at GW. It's on a scale I didn't expect. Lawyers really look out for up-and-coming colleagues. ”

A City of Surprises

Washington, DC

Another advantage of attending GW Law is participating in the life of the city. D.C. is a vibrant, multinational city of diverse treasures. The resonance of its history is everywhere. Our students frequently tell stories of going for a morning run on the National Mall and doing a double-take as they pass the Lincoln Memorial. There's an annual tradition during 1L orientation of organizing a softball game at the foot of the Washington Monument—such an ordinary event in such an extraordinary location.

D.C. is full of those moments. It offers a blend of American history, international flavor, and cultural activity that few cities can match. Its charming and varied neighborhoods, abundance of free museums, world-class entertainment and sports venues, and eclectic mix of restaurants provide variety and excitement for residents.

A National Law School with Global Reach

GW Law offers the legal education and career services that assist students in meeting their goals. The law school curriculum focuses on federal common law, rather than limiting the emphasis to the laws of one particular state, so students leave GW Law with global legal knowledge that allows them to sit for the bar in any jurisdiction.

In addition, the Career Center brings recruiters to campus from around the country to meet with our students. Each year, the center holds recruitment events in Philadelphia, Los Angeles, New York, San Francisco, Miami, and Chicago, in addition to D.C. The center's job postings feature opportunities nationwide.

Our alumni practice law throughout the United States and in more than 20 countries around the world.

WAYS TO APPLY

1. Regular Admission Process
2. Binding Early Decision Process
3. Binding Presidential Merit Scholarship Program (Full Tuition)

1. REGULAR ADMISSION PROCESS

The fall JD application deadline is March 1 for those seeking admission through the regular—not early decision—process. Regular admission decisions will be made on a rolling basis between November and May. Applicants are encouraged to apply early. Admitted applicants will be required to make nonrefundable seat deposits between April and July.

2. BINDING EARLY DECISION PROCESS

The Binding Early Decision Program is designed for applicants who have researched their law school choices and are certain that GW Law is their top choice. This program allows those applicants a means of expressing to the Admissions Committee their commitment to attend GW Law if admitted. Early Decision applicants are given priority review. Admitted applicants will be eligible for need-based grants; applicants for whom merit award consideration is a prerequisite for matriculation should not apply through this program. The application deadline is February 1.

*Test-Optional Candidates

Select candidates may apply to GW Law on a test-optional basis (no submission of LSAT, GRE, GMAT or JD-Next scores). Test-optional applicants must have significant experience through either 1) employment (at least 5 years), 2) military service, 3) patent bar passage, 4) doctoral programs, or 5) social entrepreneurship. Transfer candidates from GW Law's LLM program may apply on a test-optional basis. Test-optional candidates must not have a reportable LSAT score.

3. BINDING PRESIDENTIAL MERIT SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM (FULL TUITION)

The Binding Presidential Merit Scholarship Program is designed for applicants who have researched their law school options and have determined that GW Law is their top choice. Unlike the Binding Early Decision Program, all applicants admitted through the Presidential Merit Scholarship Program will be awarded a full-tuition scholarship. The admissions process is rolling; early application is strongly encouraged. The application deadline is February 1.

TRANSFER AND VISITING STUDENTS

The law school accepts a limited number of transfer and visiting students each semester. Applicants must submit a completed application, an official transcript of all law school course work, an official undergraduate transcript, and a letter from the applicant's law school stating that the applicant is in good academic standing. Transfer students also must submit a copy of their CAS report. Transfer applications are due June 15 for fall entry or November 15 for spring entry. Visiting student applications are due June 15 for the fall semester, November 15 for spring, or May 10 for summer.

Applicants who apply by March 1 will be considered under the Early Action Transfer Program. Applicants accepted through this program will receive provisional acceptance on the basis of fall semester transcripts; final acceptance will be determined after spring transcripts are received.

The law school will not issue an I-20 form for visiting international students. Transfer students are eligible for financial aid in the form of federal loans only.

FINANCIAL AID

The law school works with students on an individual basis to ensure that each receives the most generous aid package available.

MERIT SCHOLARSHIPS

All admitted first-year applicants will be considered for merit-based scholarships. These awards, which vary in amount, are based on the strength of applications; no separate scholarship applications are required. The Scholarship Committee begins the merit review process in February.

NEED-BASED GRANTS

The Financial Aid Office begins making awards in March for the upcoming academic year. Awards are not offered to an applicant until the student has been admitted to GW Law; however, applicants are encouraged to complete their FAFSA and CSS profiles earlier to expedite the financial aid process once admitted.

OPEN DOORS SCHOLARSHIP

Through the Open Doors Scholarship, 10 extraordinary students with significant need will receive a $120,000 scholarship ($40,000/year for full time or $30,000/year for part time, which includes need-based grants and merit awards). The scholarship application will open to admitted students in February, at which point decisions will be made on a rolling basis.
